

Homes at Luuslangi

Few neighbours

Luuslangi's houses are only 3-4 stories high and each has only one entrance.

Underground semi-open parking lot

The cars are out of sight and protected from weather conditions. Only at Jalam Street 11 are they parked outside.

Charging an electric car

You have the opportunity to order the option for your parking space.

Smart garage door

It recognizes your car by the license plate and opens automatically. You can also open with by phone.

Elevator and videophone

In 4-story buildings, you can take the elevator from the parking lot to the top floor. You can see who is at the door with the videophone.

Playgrounds

In addition to the large playground in the middle of the buildings, the children in each house also have their own playground.

High ceilings, tall windows and doors

2.8 meters, 2.3 meters and 2.3 meters.

Energy class A

It doesn't get any better. There are solar panels on the roof, which reduce the electricity consumption.

Water underfloor heating

Say goodbye to ugly radiators and forget the trouble of placing furniture. District heating comes from Tallinn.

Every home has its own forced ventilation system

Economical and with heat recovery. A hood with a charcoal filter is designed for the kitchen.

Windows

The windows are triple glazed and have plastic frames.

Remotely read meters for water and electricity

One less thing to worry about.

Comfortable balcony

The balcony floors are made of concrete, if you wish, you can order floor boards. In addition, you can order glazing if you want to extend the time you can spend on the balcony or make it more comfortable.

Storage units with stone walls and metal doors

Imagine, you can hang even kettlebells on the walls.
